WORK WELL DONE

Although its praises have not been trumpeted to any appreciable extent, words of commendation and eulogium are due the Richmond Traffic Safety Council, which has been going on its way with a campaign of education calculated to reduce traffic hazards and accidents in this community.

THE SPARK PLUG

The annual meeting of the council, held Tuesday evening was notable in the respect that it developed that the four objectives of the body had been accomplished. That is a record of which any person or organization can justifiably feel proud. Naturally the result was not brought about through the effort of any one member. The spark-plug which fired enthusiasm for the work and maintained that enthusiasm throughout the months to such effective purpose has been Dr. George A. Boehmer, the president, who has labored with almost fanatic zeal and without ceasing in the crusade for better driving conditions. He has done a good work and is entitled to the thanks of every local motorist.

MEASURE UP TO TASK

Enforcement of traffic laws rests with the police department and it has fully measured up to its duty. The traffic council has supplemented this work and effectively co-operated by demonstrating to the offending motorist that traffic laws are not passed with the idea of revenge but for the safety and protection of everyone who sits behind the wheel of a car. Contrary to general expectation, the traffic school, to which offenders are sent and given instruction, has been welcomed by those forced to attend it, and not resented. Upon graduation the student goes out on the highway again in a far different attitude.

Grace E. Radke Of San Pablo Is Called By Death

Death last night claimed Grace Eloise Radke, 63, a resident of San Pablo.

Deceased was a native of Santa Cruz and had lived in this area for the past 15 years.

The body is at the Wilson and Kratzer chapel where funeral services will be conducted at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Graveside services will be held at the family plot at Santa Cruz at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Radke leaves the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Eloise Hoffmeyer, of San Francisco; Mrs. Hazel; Frederick, of Pasadena; Frank; Radke, of Oakland; George Radke, of Santa Monica; H. and Robert Radke, of Richmond.

She also leaves the following sisters and brothers: Miss Minnie Otto, of Santa Cruz; Mrs. Gertrude Hager, of San Diego and Ernest, George and Arthur Otto of Santa Cruz. She leaves 11 grandchildren.

Deceased was a member of the Congregational Church of Santa Cruz.

Bridge Worker Killed In Fall

OAKLAND, Dec. 5.—UP—A worker on the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge, was killed today when he lost his footing and plunged 200 feet inside a steel column of the bridge to the concrete pier below.

Correll was painting the top of a cantilever tower east of Yerba Buena island when he fell. He was the sixteenth worker killed during construction of the bridge.

The opening through which Correll fell is not more than 24 inches square. Henry Smalley, a fellow worker who witnessed the accident, said Correll tried vainly to clutch the smooth sides of the shaft as he hurtled downward.

Signal Firm Has Factory In Richmond

The Pacific Railway Signal Company, latest industry to come to Richmond, is providing a substantial increase to local payrolls, it was revealed yesterday in a statement by the Chamber of Commerce, which shows the company employs from 20 to 100 persons, depending on market conditions.

The firm occupies land formerly used by the Patagon Metal Containers Company on the Giant highway, an area of approximately four acres, according to G. N. Clark, manager. The plant is the only one of the kind in the west and devotes itself to the manufacture of fuses and torpedoes for use by railroads. The articles are made in Richmond.

Judge Bray To Be Speaker At Meeting Of K.C.

Judge A. F. Bray of the Superior Court will be the guest speaker at a meeting of Contra Costa Council No. 2741, Knights of Columbus, to be held Monday, December 9, at Veteran's Memorial hall.

A short business session will conclude at 8:45 p. m. and the meeting will then be opened to guests and friends of the Council, who are invited to come and hear Judge Bray's address.

Refreshments will be served following the program.

FINAL DIVORCE DECREES

MARTINEZ, Dec. 5.—UP—Two final decrees of divorce today were granted by Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnson. Marie Arrabit was granted a final decree of divorce from Martin Arrabit and Henry Trautvetter of Richmond was granted a final from Fannie Trautvetter.

Utility Firm Wins Point In New Deal Fight

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 5.—UP—Federal Judge John P. Nields tonight signed a temporary order restraining the directors of the Central Public Utility Corporation from registering with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The order was granted in response to a petition filed by stockholders of the corporation and the Consolidated Electric & Gas Company, a subsidiary, which attacked the constitutionality of the utility holding company law.

The petition asserted that directors of the defendant company had "violated their trust" in resulting to register with the SEC. According to the action, the directors on November 19 agreed to comply with registration features of the act and had refused to reconsider their resolution.

"The board of directors," the petition asserted, "are afraid of antagonizing the public officials whose duty it is to enforce the act. They also fear the penalties for failure to register."

Robert H. Richards, counsel for Albert E. Pierce of Warrentown, Va., and stockholders, plaintiffs, had asked for an immediate decision.

Court attaches said Judge Nields' restraining order would be in effect pending a hearing on a motion for a temporary injunction.

White Last Rites Held On Thursday

Funeral services were held from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel yesterday afternoon for the late Philip S. White, 73, of 11 Fifth street, who died Monday night.

Rev. Hubert F. Doran officiated at the services and cremation was at Berkeley.

BAIL BOND BROKER IS FOUND DEAD

SANTA CRUZ, Dec. 5.—UP—Puzzling angles in the death of J. C. Rohan, Oakland bail bond broker and promoter, tonight caused police to press full investigation of the case.

Rohan's body was found in a pool of water in Love Creek, a short distance from his summer cabin near Ben Leland. He disappeared Oct. 15, but his body was not found until Tuesday, Dec. 3.

AUTOPSY FAILS

An autopsy conducted today failed to establish the exact cause of death, it was determined, however, that a gas in Rohan's skull apparently had not inflicted any serious hurts, and could not have been responsible for his death.

"Rohan did not commit suicide," commented Orrie W. Dunlap, chief criminal deputy in the Santa Cruz county sheriff's office and discoverer of Rohan's body.

NOT SATISFIED

"I am not at all satisfied with the stories told by Rohan's friends concerning his disappearance," he added.

Dunlap said he wanted to question Norval Head, who formerly lived with Rohan and his wife in San Francisco, and Louis Nesser.

Woman Injured, Driver Arrested In Auto Accident

A woman was injured and the driver of one of the machines involved in the accident was cited to appear on charges of driving without caution and failure to have an operator's license, in an unusual automobile accident in El Cerrito last evening.

Mrs. Jadqueline Thayer, 67, 39 Wilcox street, El Cerrito, sustained cuts and bruises about the face and left arm. She was given hospital treatment.

R. C. Hales, 407 Congo street, San Francisco, was arrested by Patrolman Ed Smith following the crash. He will appear in police court next Wednesday night.

According to police reports, Officer Smith blew his siren to force Lester P. Thayer, driver of one of the cars, to pull over to the curb. Smith planned to warn the driver that he violated the law when he turned in the middle of the street without light. As Thayer showed up and pulled into the curb, Hales allegedly smashed into the rear of the Thayer car.

MORE TRUCKS OPERATING

California has a total of 169,794 pneumatic-tired trucks on its highways. This is 17,885 more such vehicles than registered up to October 31, 1934.

Believe It Or Not! Rain Predicted Today

Rain for central California is promised sometime today.

A storm reported 700 miles off the Oregon coast is slowly moving eastward. By late today, it should bring rain to all the area from Western Washington to California's valleys.

Not much data is available on the storm, the weather men said, because no ships are in the area.

Digest Vote Poll Against F. D. R. Grows

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—President Roosevelt's "New Deal" policies continue to be unpopular with a majority of the participants in the Literary Digest's nationwide poll.

Out of 141,500 votes, 187,146 or 14.1 percent approve the "New Deal" while 234,101 or 55.6 percent disapprove, according to the third weekly tabulation, appearing in this week's issue of the magazine. Last week's percentage for the "New Deal" was 14.1.

13 STATES OPPOSED

Five southern States, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Texas, and Virginia, how minorities for the "New Deal." Thirteen States are opposed to Roosevelt's policies. They are Florida, California, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Ohio and Oklahoma.

Of the twelve States reported in last week's tabulation, nine show increased opposition to the "New Deal." The eighteen States in this week's tally cast more than half the votes Roosevelt received in the 1932 election. All of them gave him their electoral votes then.

STATE OPPOSES F. D. R.

The first returns from Massachusetts indicate a 4 to 1 vote against the "New Deal." California shows a 57.85 percent opposition.

Answering criticism that insufficient ballots have been sent to Roosevelt supporters, the magazine declares the secret statements of the voters in the poll thus far show that 55.12 percent voted for Roosevelt in 1932.

The official vote in 1932 gave Roosevelt 57.32 percent of the total. Criticism of the wording of the ballot questions, the magazine says, has been made in previous polls although they have proved accurate.

Red Cross Directors Nominated

A board of directors for the coming year was nominated last evening at the annual meeting of the Richmond Chapter of American Red Cross held at the First National Bank offices, W. J. Richards, Jr., presided.

Heads of the various committees reported a very busy month, several cases of actual need requiring immediate action. The chapter has five very needy families on its list who are in dire need of furniture, bedding and usable clothing. Any one having articles of this description to dispose of may leave them at the chapter's office, Sixth and Macdonald, or call Richmond 2789 and they will be promptly called for.

The nominating committee for the 1936 Board of Directors turned in the following names for the new board: Mrs. J. H. Buckley, Pinole; John Kinstry, Mrs. Mattie Chandler, P. M. Ramsey, Mrs. P. B. La.

SECRET TRIP OF GOVERNOR IS REVEALED

TRINTON, N. J., Dec. 5.—UP—If the United States Supreme court rules against him, Bruno Richard Hauptmann will be allowed to make one last fight for his life by standing face to face in the death house with the only man who can save him and try to convince them he is innocent of the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.

There will be one of the men—members of the New Jersey court of pardons, who hold the sway of life or death over Hauptmann. No court can overrule them, and it is within their power to free Hauptmann in the face of a jury verdict and appellate opinions to the contrary.

SECRET TRIP

These facts became known tonight when Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey revealed that, as a member of the court of pardons, he already had made a secret trip to the death house of Trenton State prison and talked for an hour with Hauptmann about the crime that shocked civilization. He also has asked the seven other members of the pardons court to go there and hear Hauptmann plead his own case.

From the case today stepped a bald headed man who has the reputation of being one of the ablest detectives on the East Coast. He is Ellis Parker of Burlington county, who has attained enough prominence.

New Trial Plea Denied By The Supreme Court

MARTINEZ, Dec. 5.—Attorney James F. Hoy today received no news from the California appellate court that it had reversed a decision granting a new trial in the $15,697 automobile injury suit filed by Joe Borges against the Pacific Clayboard Lumber Company and Claude H. Holland.

On January 17 a jury in Superior Court gave judgment in favor of the defendants, who were represented by Hoy.

A motion for a new trial was filed by the plaintiff and the new trial was granted by Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnson. Hoy filed appeal in the appellate court.

Borges had claimed he suffered concussion of the brain and fractured ribs when an automobile he was driving collided with a bus at San Pablo and Main avenues, El Cerrito, September 16, 1931.

Magazines And Typewriter Are Reported Stolen

Theft of a portable typewriter, valued at $50 from the office of Dr. Clara Spalding at 331 Eighth street was being investigated by local police yesterday.

Dr. Spalding reported that someone entered her office during her absence and stole the machine, which was brand new.

At the same time officers were investigating reports made by a driver for an Oakland magazine company that bundles of magazines placed at the doorway of 326 Macdonald and 119 Macdonald avenues were stolen yesterday morning. The magazines are valued at about nine dollars.

More Ships Are Tied Up In Dock Row

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—UP—The up of two American Hawaiian freighters in Portland, Ore., by a dispute over the size of sling loads of flour, was announced tonight by the West Coast Employers Association.

The tie-up brings to 11 the ships tied up in Pacific Coast ports, an employer spokesman said. One of the ships, the Diamond Head at San Francisco, is idle because of the refusal of the crew to perform a cleaning job in port. The others are tied up by refusal of longshoremen to handle either because of industrial disputes or in connection with the longshoremen's embargo against cargo from the Gulf of Mexico strike zone.

Maritime sources today reported the central strike committee of the Longshoremen and Water Transport Workers of Canada will declare an end to the longshore strike in British Columbia Monday. The strike began July 2 and precipitated the first "hot cargo" crisis at San Francisco.

Radio Club Will Elect New Officers

The Richmond Radio club will meet at the City Hall at 8 o'clock tonight. Nomination and election of officers will be the main business, followed by a discussion of final plans for the club's Christmas party, to be held December 20. John Nelson will preside. All members are urged to attend and visitors are welcome.

"RAT" SUBDIVISIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—UP—San Francisco is to be divided into "rat subdivisions." A recent survey showed there were approximately 200,000 rats in the city, more than three to each inhabitant. Each subdivision will be cared for by a staff of city rat catchers.

BRITAIN IN NEW APPEAL TO ITALIANS

ROME, Dec. 5.—UP—Premier Benito Mussolini is preparing to turn thumbs down on the Franco-British proposals for settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian war, diplomats believed tonight.

This was understood to be the reason why the foreign office spokesman announced: "Italy sees no foundation for recent optimism abroad regarding possibility of an Italo-Ethiopian settlement."

TERMS SUBMITTED

The broad outline of terms drafted at Paris by Maurice Peterson and Count Rene Rymel Saint-Quentin, British and French Foreign Office African experts, was submitted to Il Duce by Ambassador to France Vittorio Cerutti.

Mussolini reportedly found the proposals unsatisfactory, failing to meet Italy's minimum requirements for territorial expansion.

OFFER IS TOLD

This is the peace plan France and Britain offer Italy before they go to Geneva to vote for extension of sanctions to oil, coal and metals needed for Italy's military machine.

1. Italy to give Ethiopia a corridor to the sea between Assab, Eritrea, and French Somaliland.

2. Ethiopia to give Italy a strip of Northern Tigray province, not including the Ethiopian holy city Aksum and possibly not Addis Ababa. Both cities are well inside the present Italian line.

3. Ethiopia to cede to Italian Somaliland in the south most of Ogaden and Bale. The north bound, say would be a few miles below Sassa Baneh and the east less than 100 miles from Addis Ababa. The

Unique Appeal Filed By Local Sardine Concern

MARTINEZ, Dec. 6.—A determination upon the status of Monterey sardines today had been asked by the Bay-side Fish Flour Company of Point San Pablo, in a unique appeal filed with the Supreme court at Washington, D. C.

The company asks the justices to declare unconstitutional certain parts of the California fish and game code, enacted August 21, 1932. A three-judge Federal District court denied the company an injunction recently.

Asserting it is the only plant in the state "manufacturing fish flour for use of human consumption" the company contended it was discriminated against "because it does not pack its products in a tin can but only uses a flour sack."

The highest court agreed to consider briefs in the case on December 16. Today's plea for the company said the sardines it converts into flour, principally for sale in Europe, are caught in the Pacific ocean outside the three mile limit of California waters by fishermen from Oregon and Washington.

The contention is made that California has no control over the sardines, either before they are caught or after they are sold. The brief told the justices the sardines do not live in California waters.

The company was engaged in litigation in superior court here over some of the same issues carried to the supreme court.

Latona Refuses To Believe He Will Hang Today

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Dec. 5.—UP—Ellis J. Latona, convicted Los Angeles killer who for 24 months staved off hanging, tonight confidently awaited another reprieve to save him from scheduled execution tomorrow.

"I should worry—they won't let me hang," he jauntily remarked to his guard.

"I won't believe I'm going to hang until the row starts."

For more than two years Latona has exchanged quips of such nature with the death row guard.

With minutes to spare, Governor Frank Merriam did issue a reprieve the following day to permit doctors C. A. Johnson and F. A. Butler to complete a report on Latona's mental condition last August, the day before he was scheduled to hang.

Tonight it appeared there was little chance he would win another stay of execution following the report by Dr. Johnson and Dr. Butler that he was sane.

Criminals Join In Search For Girl's Slayer

FRESNO, Dec. 5.—UP—Habitual criminals, shocked by the crime and eager to clear themselves of suspicion, today joined forces with State and county authorities to eliminate suspects of the attack-murder of Mary Stanner, 11.

As the word was passed through underworld channels, that officers, baffled after investigation of known degenerates had begun a roundup of all known criminals, convicted felons and parolees offered their fingerprints to Sheriff George Overholt.

One man classed as a habitual burglar, was said to have presented himself at the sheriff's office to be printed, and to have remarked, "I don't know a single guy, burglar or not, low enough to commit such a crime."

Melvin Ellis, held for identification in Santa Barbara, was believed to have no connection with the crime after investigators received his fingerprint classification by teletype.

HUNTING THEY GO THESE BRAVE NIMRODS
Richard Dowdakin and Loren Craig went hunting out in the Lake Chabot region recently and had quite an experience for little boys.

For cats they took along a rooster duck, for transportation an old car.

and for company they took Richard's dog. The dog stole and ate the duck, the car turned over in a plowed field, and they got no game. They could not move the car and had nothing to eat for two days until Richard hitch hiked back to El Cerrito.

In the meantime a couple of ramblers had righted the car and pulled it and Loren out of the mud, so that eventually he also arrived at his home here a sadder and wiser little boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood are well known Richmond people. They are now making their home in San Francisco.

THEY CLAIMED IN THE RECORD-HERALD FOR RESULTS

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—UP—The North German Lloyd liner Bremer, center of one international controversy, was given a large escort when it arrived in New York as a result of an alleged Communist plot to bomb the vessel.

Two Coast Guard cutters, two Coast Guard patrol boats, and a police launch were rushed to New York to meet the liner at the harbor. The Bremer, which had been in the harbor since it left Bremerhaven, Germany, on Nov. 29, was escorted by the Coast Guard cutters and police launch to the harbor.

Fine Or Prison Term Offered To Anita Whitney

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—UP—Miss Anita Whitney, daughter of a former United States Senator convicted of false swearing in connection with Communist party election statements, today was given her choice of paying $600 in fine or spending 300 days in jail.

Miss Whitney told Judge Elmer Robinson she was undecided which penalty to accept and was given five days to arrange her affairs and make a decision.

Motion for a new trial, for arrest of judgment and probation were rejected.

The wealthy radical received permission to address the court, after sentence was pronounced, and declared she was prosecuted solely because she is a Communist.

It was the second time Whitney has been convicted of a crime. On the former occasion she was found guilty of violating the criminal syndicalism act, was pardoned by Governor C. Young.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Senator George Norris will be a candidate for reelection next year.

Under pressure of strong pleas from the President, his Senate colleagues, and the public, Norris has decided to run for reelection next year.

On the other hand, while Norris is unopposed and he expects to support him for reelection, the Democratic party label holds no attraction.

The La Follette brothers, Senator Bob and Governor Phil, both very close to Norris, have advised him to follow their example, and run as a Progressive.

Probably this is what Norris will do.

UTILITY JOKE
Members of the Securities and Exchange Commission have a private joke on Owen D. Young and C. C. Gusebeck, heads of General Electric and the Electric Bond and Share Company.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 5.—UP.—The screen makes it the most difficult of all mediums for singing, according to J. M. Kiepura, one of the first opera stars to appear in feature pictures.

As a pioneer in this field, the Continental singer has found that opera and concert singing are too different because he cannot expect the performer to be spontaneous in fact, to the contrary, he is expected to be completely rehearsed.

In the majority of cases for the screen, Kiepura says, "the whole picture is rehearsed and the singer must give his performance in a rehearsed manner, and of course, no singer can afford to do that."

"For this type of singing, even more rehearsal is now necessary, and when the scene is being photographed, the director naturally must give a great deal of attention to his position in order to obtain spontaneity."

Kiepura, who is making his American picture debut opposite Gladys Swarthout in "Give Us This Night," made his first film about five years ago. It was the European picture "Carmen," and it marked the first appearance of an opera star in a feature-length picture.

A few opera singers had made short subjects before that, but they served mainly to impress audiences with the new miracle of sound.

Since then Kiepura has made in Europe "The Mine Tontine," "My Song for You," and "I Love All Women," completing the latter just before he came to Hollywood.

Sound engineers report that their test show Kiepura has the strongest voice and greatest range of any singer that ever tested a microphone. The full voice is beyond the range of the most modern recording equipment and it is necessary for Kiepura to use his "mezzo-voice" or half voice, when doing screen songs.

Richmond Man Is Injured In Crash

Sidney H. Galt, 36, of 2122 Ashby avenue, Berkeley, Richmond division, was injured when his car crashed into a tree at the intersection of Ashby and 21st streets, early Wednesday morning when he drove his car into the railing on the west end of the Berkeley ferry pier, according to Berkeley police.

Officers said Galt fell asleep at the wheel of his machine before the crash.

Hull Warns Japs Over China Grab

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—UP.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull tonight inferentially warned the Japanese government that the United States is closely watching developments in North China, particularly with reference to Japan's treaty obligations in that area.

He made his statement, he said, in reply to inquiries by press correspondents in regard to the anti-Chinese movement in North China, Chinese and Japanese activities in relation thereto and the American government's attitude.

Hull declared bluntly that the United States respects its treaty obligations and that it expects other nations to do likewise. The United States is one of the "treaty powers" whose rights and obligations in North China are in general identical.

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The jokes are back at the Winter Garden are having a hilarious time trying to trip up the comical Battle Lillie.

In one of the "At Home About sketches," the comic curtain drew Mrs. Lillie behind a bar. One of her first business is to lift up a towel that is lying on the bar and sweep it across the board. The stage crew decided to have some fun with the comedienne, and a almost every performance had Mrs. Lillie, Fredine Godiva or some other member of the crew placed underneath the towel some trick gadget designed to startle or amuse the Lady Peel.

One night it was a trick stool that shot up when she lifted the towel. On another occasion it was an apparently simple little note in an envelope, when opened by Mrs. Lillie, was released and wound around her fingers.

One time it was a few links of a sausage, which she had to hold in her hand for the duration of the sketch. The most recent stunt was a small goldfish bowl fully stocked with water. Mrs. Lillie had to jump the bowl carefully for several minutes so that the audience wouldn't become aware of the trick and he did trace from the action in the sketch.

The stage hands must have secret magician ambitions.

HIGHER MATH.—The drunk was down on his hands and knees in Times Square, crawling under the legs of hurrying passers-by. Finally, he peered everywhere on the sidewalk. Finally he jumped up, holding a nickel triumphantly in his hand.

Rocky, but determined, he made his way to the corner box. On looking around warily in an attempt to dissuade him from his purpose, but the toper deliberately opened the box and dropped the nickel.

Schmeyer, master of the Grange, in a letter to Governor Frank P. McHugh today asked that the Assembly, audit investigating committee, headed by Leon M. Donohue, Oakland, be allowed to proceed with its investigation without further interference by the director of finance.

Schmeyer said the letter was written on behalf of the grange executive committee. The farm organization demanded a full investigation of state finances at its recent convention here.

Detective Job Of Bank Bandit Ended By Police

SAN JOSE, Dec. 5.—UP.—The private detective career of Charles R. Moose, 43, came to an abrupt end here today with his arrest following his identification as an alleged bank robber in connection with burglary of a Davenport, Iowa bank in 1928.

Moose, who has been operating as a private detective here for several years, was arrested by Chief of Police U. N. Black after Aaron Partis, San Jose, claimed Moose threatened him.

Upon questioning, it was revealed that Moose had no proper credentials for operating as a detective. He was fingerprinted upon suspicion and his identity disclosed.

Moose admitted a picture in no file was his, but said the bank holdup case "had been settled." He said he had served time in an eastern prison.

He was booked as "on route to Davenport, Iowa," and prepared for extradition.

ANYTHING but LOVE by JANET DORAN

CHAPTER XXXIII
AS ROY CARRIALL, carrying a leather brief case, stepped ponderously into the laboratory with a complacent smile on his heavy, florid face.

Alma steeled herself for the interview. If she had any momentary compunction she remembered what Johnny had said—that this was all in the cause of saving others from this man's schemes. If she hesitated about leading Carriall into the trap set for him, she thought of how he and Sig Borndike had trapped her father.

When Bill had gone out, closing the door behind him, Carriall placed his briefcase on the workbench, opened it, and drew forth a sheet of stock certificates.

"Here you are, Miss Whittaker. Bestall Remedies preferred—the old stock not the newer issue you understand," he went on sonorously. "I should not be offering this stock at such a tremendous sacrifice if conditions were not quite critical just now. Besides, I have learned the wisdom of varied investments."

"I see, Mr. Carriall. You say it's the old preferred. And you're sure this block of stock is your own private holding?"

"THE interview went on, and on, as Alma drew him out, pumped him, forced him by her questions into making indiscreet revelations connected with his operation as a bank official. He thought this slip of a girl his only apparent listener, would not understand their significance but, slowly, he was damning himself.

"Well," he said finally, "what do you say, Miss Whittaker? Say the word, and this stock is yours, as well as your old home thrown in. You'll be right back where you started from now if you'll."

"Just a minute," Alma said slowly. "Didn't you say that Sig Borndike owned the house? How can you speak for his holdings, Mr. Carriall? Or did he give you that authority?"

"Sig," Carriall laughed grimly. "Is not likely to question any decisions I make, Miss Whittaker! This bank closing has proved something I've said all along. No bank officer is any bigger or stronger than the bank he favors. Behind him Sig forgot that!"

"I imagine others in the bank did too," Mr. Carriall, Alma said softly. "This stock is a dud that started before Johnny Borndike was born. And the stuff we've got on those dictaphone records should be a help to Chris Gordon in building up the case against Carriall and his gang. Because that, and the evidence the bank examiner has been digging up, Burntwood should have enough scandal to last it all summer!"

"I'm fed up with it," Alma said wearily. "I wish I hadn't gone through with it."

"You're too chicken-hearted, Alma," he grinned down at her. "We've done a good evening's work! And now, get your hat and let's go eat!"

They drove to the Dairy Lunch and found places at a white-topped table. The one waitress, who knew Alma, stared at her curiously and then approached the table.

"Have—have you heard the news, Miss Whittaker?" she asked hesitantly.

"What news?" asked Alma, startled by the girl's tone.

"About Mr. Borndike. He—ne committed suicide."

"I imagine others in the bank did too," Mr. Carriall, Alma said softly. "This stock is a dud that started before Johnny Borndike was born. Science of Chemistry Doing Wonderful Things
To Promote Better Health

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

WHILE we are discussing the chemistry of nutrition, talking rat units and guinea pig rations as used in laboratory work, defining vitamins and their sources, it might be fitting to pay a brief tribute to some of the things the science of chemistry is doing for us.

On the 8th of November, the 1935 Chemical Industry Medal was bestowed upon Dr. E. R. Weidlein, a director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research in the University of Pittsburgh.

DR. CHRISMAN

In his speech of acceptance at the Chemical Industry Medal ceremony, Dr. Weidlein gave a brief outline of some of the things the Institute has accomplished in its field of research. The Institute is a center of research in many fields, not only in chemistry but in physics, biology, and medicine. It is a training school for those who are specializing in industrial science. Through it is distributed valuable scientific information of the public knowledge of new facts that will be useful and gainfully employed in many fields.

Naturally, there are hundreds of industries that will find this experimental knowledge profitable. Books, bulletins, papers by the score have been issued and hundreds of commercial patents allowed and protected. What we are interested in is what chemistry is doing by way of advancing the cause of health.

Dr. Weidlein's address contained interesting information regarding some of the series of experiments. The matter of air-conditioning grew out of the need of affording relief to the many forms of respiratory troubles, sinus infections, and like afflictions among the millions of people who spend their working hours in offices and factories.

The amount of pollution in the form of offending dusts and airborne bacteria, the heat, the cold, the wetness or the dryness and their effects upon the human tissues, are all matters of exact chemical determination.

Suffice it to say we may now live in an atmosphere suited to our health needs, circumstances permitting.

Chemistry has provided us with our basic knowledge of food elements and their comparative nutritive values; the inestimable benefits of understanding caloric values and the now endless consideration of vitamins, their sources and effects.

A particular line of research in the Mellon Institute has been that of dental caries or tooth decay. This has had to include an intensive study of bone-making material, the absorption of phosphorus and calcium into the tissues and their retention, for building purposes.

Action of Foods

Also the action of foods, acid and alkaline, upon the human tissues came under observation. The kitchen has provided a very good laboratory for chemical research and first under survey has been the effect of heat upon food in the various processes of cooking.

Petrification, of course, had its attention, while all our cooking utensils have undergone countless experiments for reactions to foods, heat conduction, and destructibility.

We have a special interest in the new researches in the field of chlorine alkaloids, or the many forms of quinine which is our most powerful weapon against all kinds of infectious fevers, especially malaria. There are scores of effective ways of using quinine, but we can learn many things of the forms in which it can be prescribed and the differing effects upon the human constitution.

Our congratulations go to the distinguished winner of this year's Chemistry Medal. May health attend him!

Short Cuts

A folding baby bath and dressing table that will fit solidly and conveniently on top of your tub is good news. The bath referred to has a patented lock construction that prevents collapse. It adjusts to fit any tub. Solidly made of maple, painted ivory, it has a strong rubberized sheeting guaranteed to wear for a year. It is completely outfitted with soap pocket, drain and spray. The canvas top lets down to form a dressing table, with bands to hold it safe. The whole thing fits up compactly.

Brazil nuts are delicious and fudge. There are dozens of uses for them in your kitchen. Use them in dressings for meat or fish. Try them in cookies, fudge and breads. Use them with fillings and in salads.

Profiles For Today

Charles Mahaffie Rose
From Rhodes

By TALBOT LAKE

THE general public seems to have an idea that Phi Beta Kappa students and Rhodes scholars never get anywhere after their auspicious start in life, but a little investigation will show this is not true. Naturally, not every prize student at college makes a success of the more practical things, but on the whole they do very well.

For instance, there is Charles Mahaffie Rose, a Rhodes scholar, who rose rapidly and has stayed on the top more than twenty-five years. As a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission he has now induced that body to call an investigation into the management and financing plan of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. This is natural enough, for he is an expert on railroad finance, and has served under five Presidents in this capacity.

Mr. Mahaffie's honorable career began on the prairies of Kansas and Oklahoma. He went to Kingfisher College, where, besides winning fame in learning, he was a crack football player. The transition from Oklahoma stubble to the velvety green lawns of Oxford was taken in stride, and he qualified in law, later returning to teach at Princeton for awhile.

He received his first law chance from Clarence Darrow, getting a fee of $20. He soon worked up a national reputation, and Woodrow Wilson made him solicitor of the Department of the Interior. President Harding made him Railroad Administrator. Here began his intense specialization in railroad finance. From 1922 to 1930 he was Director of the Bureau of Finance of the Interstate Commerce Commission, succeeding Thomas F. Woodcock as commissioner in the latter year.

He was a farm boy in Oklahoma and a crack football player at Kingfisher College. His was the railroad pool plan of 1931. He is 51.

"Eating" Milk

Adults who refuse to drink milk can be made to eat it and like it. For instance, use milk in creamed and scalloped dishes, in puddings, custards, in cream soups, oyster and clam stews. And don't forget to serve cheese from time to time. Cheese is concentrated milk.

IN SOUTACHE

Remove the excess water and while your hair is still slightly damp, comb and press in the waves. Set the ends in small curls for ringlets, then sit near a radiator or under a sunlamp until your hair is thoroughly dry. Remove pins and curlers and then without brushing out, slip a hairnet over your curls and go to bed. In the morning, spray your hair with brilliantine and then comb out the waves and brush the end curls over your finger to soften and loosen them.

On Friday or Saturday night have a facial with a pick-up cream to remove all traces of sallowness and fatigue and put your face in a merry mood. On Saturdays and Sundays double up on all the exercises. Every girl can go through a few simple routine exercises in her room—and every girl can hike and dance and skate.

By such activities you keep your figure lithe and youthful and the sparkle in your eyes in spite of long, busy hours in your place of business.

For suggestions on keeping the hair firm and youthful, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to "Unfriendly Chins."

Tuesday Night Best Time for Treating Eyes

By JACQUELINE HUNT

IF YOU read yesterday's column, you know your beauty schedule started with a beauty bath and facial on Monday night. Of course, you can change this to Friday night or some other night of the week if you choose, but I know how busy the week-ends of the business girl usually are.

You have the heaviest dates then and all the dozens of little jobs you never have time for during the week. Monday morning is apt to find you feeling a little heavy-eyed and dull, and time out in the evening for a thoroughly refreshing bath and facial, puts you on your toes again for the rest of the week.

On Tuesday nights give your eyes special attention. They will be grateful for it, especially if you must spend hours typing, reading, editing or doing the dozens of things that require close attention. Start with some of the exercises outlined in my leaflet, "Glamorous Eyes," then give them a bath with boracic acid dissolved in warm water.

After the warm eye bath, chill a portion of the cleansing solution with a small lump of ice and wash again. At this time you can pluck away the stray hairs in your eyebrows, and massage a little eye cream or petroleum jelly into them and your lashes to encourage their growth.

Wednesdays may be assigned to your weekly manicure and a soothing massage treatment for your hands. This is a good time for your pedicure and you will find a foot massage with cold cream or a camphorated foot cream restful, especially if you must spend long hours on your feet during the day.

If you live in a smoky city, you will probably find a weekly shampoo necessary. Thursdays are especially timely for this major beauty rite, since your hair will be at its best for your week-end parties. Remember to massage the scalp first and brush away all loosened particles of dead skin and rust. Use several applications of liquid soap, rinsing after each application and then rinse several times. A softening preparation may be added to the last or to the last-rinse water to bring out all the lovely highlights of your hair.

Remove the excess water and while your hair is still slightly damp, comb and press in the waves. Set the ends in small curls for ringlets, then sit near a radiator or under a sunlamp until your hair is thoroughly dry. Remove pins and curlers and then without brushing out, slip a hairnet over your curls and go to bed. Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "I have a rather round face and dark hair that has a slight natural wave. I usually comb it off my face with a high side part and let the ends curl as they will. I would like to have a more dressy hair arrangement for evening. Can you help me?"

—Edith.

Since hair ornaments are being worn so much this year, why not select one or two that would look nice with your evening gown? There are little halo hats of gold mesh, coronets, feathered ornaments, clusters or headbands of tiny flowers and pretty clips of sparkling stones. Perhaps simple rhinestone star clips would be lovely in your dark hair. Take your ornaments with you when you have your hair set for the party.

A nice coiffure for a little hat or a Juliet cap, pearls, calls for a smooth arrangement across the top and a fringe or loose ringlets curls all the way around. Or you might like to swirl your hair back in soft waves, ringlets, leaving your ears exposed and wear pretty earrings.

Military Idea

Sally Eilers' white faille evening cloak has a decidedly military air, with epaulettes, cape and deep pointed lapels. Worn over a navy crepe gown trimmed in white, it is one of the outstanding formal costumes seen recently in Hollywood.

Lingerie Makes Nice Gift, With White Coming Back

By IRENE VAIL

New York—Lingerie makes an ideal gift to friends, and after scouting about in the right places the following bits of information are given in anticipation of your need to know what's what, and why.

Because white is very chic for evening clothes, white lingerie is also more desirable than it has been since the flesh-color lingerie habit was formed. It is just as true, though, that vivid satin gowns are chic. For gift purposes they really are a knockout in glowing Renaissance colors.

Don't forget the long-sleeved night dress is as good to look at as the long-sleeved dinner dress—nothing old fogey about them at all. Then there's the camisole bodice nightgown, sometimes with a low shirred finish, and other times edged in various dainty ways.

The most important thing to know about night dresses is that they should look like evening gowns. The smartest and loveliest really are, for it is—as we have already mentioned—the fashion to dress up at bedtime.

You're not likely to be allowed to forget monograms. They are all the rage on lingerie, especially of the tailored sort, and many of the best-looking gowns are tailored.

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "I am having some Christmas cards made up. Would it be correct to send one to my home or office? He is a married man.—E. L."

ANSWER: You may send the Christmas card to his home or office, but either way be sure to address it to "Mr. and Mrs." even if you do not know your employer's wife.

QUESTION: "What is the correct time for an afternoon bridge, and when should refreshments be served?—Mrs. D. C."

ANSWER: Set the hour for two-thirty or three o'clock. Serve refreshments around four-thirty. Serve tea or coffee or any other beverage, and sandwiches.

QUESTION: Please tell me what phrase is correct when taking leave of a hostess after a pleasant evening?—G. F."

ANSWER: The words used do not matter so much as that the manner be convincing. For instance, "I've enjoyed a most happy time," or "It's been a— and evening," may sound stilted, or sincere, and just right, depending on how one says it.

Festive Foods Grace Menus For the Week

By JUDITH WILSON

HERE are recipes for some of the festive dishes given in our menus for the week. You will want to use them often in the chilly weeks to come.

Avocado-Orange Appetizer
Allow 1 medium sized avocado and 1 large orange for each 2 servings. Cut the avocados in half lengthwise and remove the stones. Set on individual beds of lettuce. Pare the oranges, removing every particle of membrane with the peel, then cut in sections, removing all of the dividing membranes. Arrange the sections in the avocado halves with 2 tablespoons of well seasoned French dressing to each. Serve as a first course and omit the usual salad.

SUNDAY BREAKFASTS
Split Bananas Rolled in Cereal Flakes with Brown Sugar and Cream
Corn and Bacon Waffle Bread
Maple Syrup Coffee
Orange-Pineapple Juice
Crisp Cereal Flakes
Tiny Kidney Pies with Biscuit Crust
Eggs au Beurre Noir
Icebox Cookies Coffee

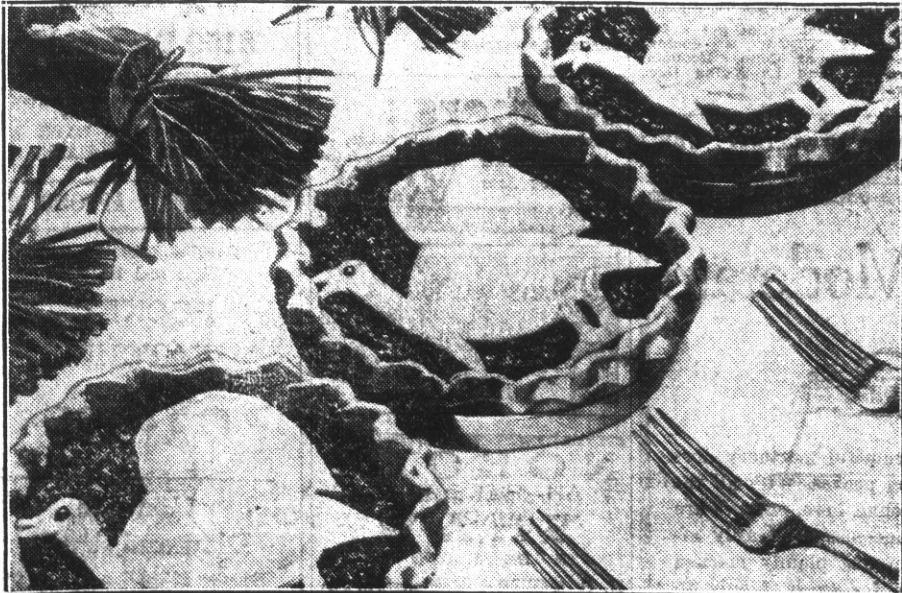

Steamed Cranberry Pudding
Cream 1/3 cup shortening with 2/3 cup sugar until light and fluffy. Add 2 well-beaten eggs and mix thoroughly. Add 2 1/2 cups pastry flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 2 teaspoons baking powder. That have been sifted together, alternately with 2/3 cup sweet milk. Last of all stir in 2 cups washed whole or halved cranberries. Fill a well-greased 1 1/2 quart mold or 2 1-pound coffee cans 2/3 full. Adjust the greased cover and steam 2 1/2 hours or until done when tested with a toothpick. This will serve 6. To serve 2 or 3 make half of the recipe and steam in greased custard cups covered with waxed paper for 40 minutes. Serve with hard sauce.

Peppered Corn
Sauté 3 tablespoons finely minced green pepper in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine in the top of a double boiler until tender. Add 3 cups canned whole-kernel corn, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 6 tablespoons cream or top milk. When you want a treat, try the corn-on-the-cob that comes 4 tender golden ears to the can. Heat in the can and serve as you would fresh corn.

Jellied Cranberry Salad
Split 2 small oranges, remove the seeds and some of the white membrane. Put in the food chopper, add 2 cups cranberries, 1 cup sugar and 1 cup boiling water and cook 20 minutes. Add 1 1/2 tablespoons gelatin that has been soaked in 4 tablespoons cold water. Stir in the hot fruit mixture until dissolved, then press through a sieve. When it cools, add 1 cup celery chopped as fine as possible. Season with lemon juice and turn into a ring mold to set. Serve on a bed of chicory and fill the center with balls made from cream cheese and chopped nuts.

Spicy Prune Pies
Break 1 9-ounce package dry mince-meat into pieces, add 1 1/2 cups prune juice and water and 3 tablespoons sugar. Heat slowly until the lumps are broken up, then boil briskly for 1 minute. Cool. Line individual pie plates with rich pastry, fill with the mince-meat mixture. Cut turkey shapes out of pastry and place over the filled lower crusts, or cover each little pie with criss-cross strips of pastry, and press firmly to the lower crust to prevent shrinking. Bake 30 minutes in a hot oven.

AN ATTRACTIVE MINCE PIE

TURKEY MINCE PIE: 1 (9 oz.) package dry mince meat, 1 cup water, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 cup sherry, pie crust.
Break dry mince meat into pieces. Add water and sugar. Place over heat and stir until all lumps are thoroughly broken up. Bring to brisk boil; continue boiling for one minute. Allow to cool. Add sherry. Line individual pie plates with pie crust. Fill with mince-meat. Cut turkeys from pie crust and place one on each filled lower shell. Bake 35 minutes in a hot oven (400 degrees F.).

MODERN WOMEN

Suavity and Courtesy Do Not Always Conceal Conceit in Men

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

THE theory that courtesy and chicanery always go hand-in-hand never made sense to me. A suave, courteous manner does not necessarily conceal villainy, nor does a rough diamond always have a heart of pure gold. Yet such seems to be the popular general belief. Evidently, our correspondent shares it.

"My dear Mrs. Martin: Some days ago I listened to a long discourse on courtesy. It occurred to me after listening an ear to the obviously insincere discourse, delivered by a speaker with an agonizing and agonized expression, that there is something spurious in all this talk about courtesy. I would suggest, if so permitted, that we stress the virtues of sincerity, a bit more, and truthfulness, a bit more, and pay less attention to suavity. There are too many people in the world and certainly too few really decent people. We should be character building and pay less attention to empty and misleading gestures. We need more gentlemen and fewer people who cloak dark deeds with an unctuous gesture. In my experience in the business world, and it has been rather extensive, I have learned that the most impossible deeds are performed very often by a man hiding behind a smirk. Most of the people discharged during the depression were thrown into the world by a smiling employer who assured them with a sickly smile and a friendly pat on the back they could go right out and better themselves. He knew better, the victim knew better, and the whole proceedings were rendered rather horrible by the great air of courtesy that dominated the scene. I sometimes think, we were better off when men behaved like men and were not quite so artificial. Murder may be committed with a smile, but it is order, nevertheless, and seems more terrible for the hypocrite that attends the deed. Let us have a little more decency. That is what the world really needs. Must we always confuse courtesy with culture? There is really no connection. Objector."

You and Your Child

Boy Gains Socially Fending for Self

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

JACKIE rode his tricycle out of the driveway to the front of the house. Here he paused to wave goodbye to his doting mother watching him from an upper window. Then he started on his way, unmindful of the trouble that lay ahead. For as soon as he rounded the corner, he was to be pounced on by a couple of boys of his own age. One boy took him to task for taking his gun without permission. He was working the pedals of his bicycle. "I'd like to teach you to leave my things alone," he said. "Meanwhile several children had gathered around in anticipation of witnessing a fight. As they listened, they appraised Jackie with sidelong glances, critically and with disdain."

The second boy reached for the peak of Jackie's cap and gave it a hard yank downward toward his nose. "There," he exclaimed vindictively, "you did it to me this morning." Jackie adjusted his cap and called the offender by an unpleasant sounding name. Then working the pedals of his bicycle he tried to get away, but now the whole crowd was after him. They pulled his hat, they poked at him and jeered. He was at the mercy of "the crowd." He must have realized this because he did not cry or fight back. He just took his punishment, behaving as though he were immune to it.

A tall boy in the crowd opposing Jackie suddenly placed a protecting arm around him and told the crowd to "Beat it!" When they hesitated, he roared, "He's had enough!" The motive? A sense of fairness, perhaps, or admiration for Jackie's pluck.

Jackie, however, wriggled free of Red's protecting arm. He rode away slowly, subdued and thoughtful. He had no hard feelings for Red or for any of the crowd. Indeed, he thought no more of their rough treatment of him. A lesson learned at the crowd's hands was gradually sinking into that they demanded fairness and were rough when you were not fair. Jackie, unfortunately, has been long in learning this lesson because his mother generally is on hand to fend for him.

"Mrs. Goward's latest leaflet, 'When Your Child Is Afraid,' is now ready. If you want it, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

cross strips of pastry, and press firmly to the lower crust to prevent shrinking. Bake 30 minutes in a hot oven.

SEXES JUDGED DIFFERENTLY

Men and women are judged by a different yardstick in measuring human virtues and frailties. Even for big women little things are important. For men they hardly seem to matter.

As for the charge of hypocrisy mentioned, I do not really believe it to be the besetting sin of the age—as undoubtedly it once was. There are hypocrites, of course, but the people today are too careless of the opinion of others to bother much about concealing their real feelings.

"My dear Mrs. Martin: I am a widow about to remarry. Do you think it is a good taste to have a wedding, reception, and all? And should I wear white? The man I am going to marry wants me to wear white, and my family say I should have a wedding, by I am marrying well and have lots of friends. Please answer as soon as possible. M. K. F."

Since your fiancé wants you to wear white, wear it. Not satin, or bridal array, but something smart, a suit or a white gown with black hat. So many women now wear white, you could wear it, if you are careful to avoid any sort of costume associated with a bride. By all means have a reception if it pleases you, but I would suggest you avoid a big wedding. Let the ceremony be shorn of all pomp and ceremony.

Mrs. Martin will be glad to answer in this column questions of general interest. Mrs. Martin cannot reply individually to every correspondent. Names will not be published. Address her care of this paper.

BRITISH VOICE APPEAL

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Foreign Secretary, Lord Simon, today made an appeal to Italian public opinion, urging them to support the British proposal for settling the Italo-Ethiopian war. These appeals are expected to be in Mussolini's hands by Saturday, when Sir Samuel is scheduled to confer with French Premier Pierre Laval in Paris.

NO SINCERE MOTIVES

"I appeal to Signor Mussolini and his government to dismiss from their minds the suspicion of sincere motives behind our support of the league."

The statesman's remarks were interpreted as a plea for Italian consideration of the Franco-British proposals for settling the Italo-Ethiopian war. These are expected to be in Mussolini's hands by Saturday, when Sir Samuel is scheduled to confer with French Premier Pierre Laval in Paris.

WANT TO BE FRIENDS

"Every nation participating in sanctions," Sir Samuel continued, "would be delighted to restore friendly relations with Italy when sanctions are ended."

"Let the Italian dismiss from their minds the suspicion that we wish to drive a wedge between France and Italy," Sir Samuel said. "We wish to see Italy and France the warmest of friends."

ATTACK ORDER GIVEN

LONDON, Friday, Dec. 6.—UP. Orders to prepare to attack advancing Italian troops on the northern front and "drive them from the country" were flashed by Emperor Haile Selassie on Thursday, the New Chronicle's correspondent at Northern Ethiopia headquarters reported today.

The orders were transmitted to all Ethiopian forces now advancing toward the northern caravan center of Makale, occupied by Fascist Legions, the correspondent said.

Led An Ideal Married Life

VISALIA, Dec. 5.—UP. Robert Allen, seeking a divorce from Grace Lee Oliver, found his case rejected today. He charged she often pushed him while having in order to make him out himself; she charged his face; accused him of cheating at cards; once leaped thru a window to secure face scratches when he told friends she suffered at his hands. She charged he drank to excess, threatened her with a baseball bat, and once broke her arm.

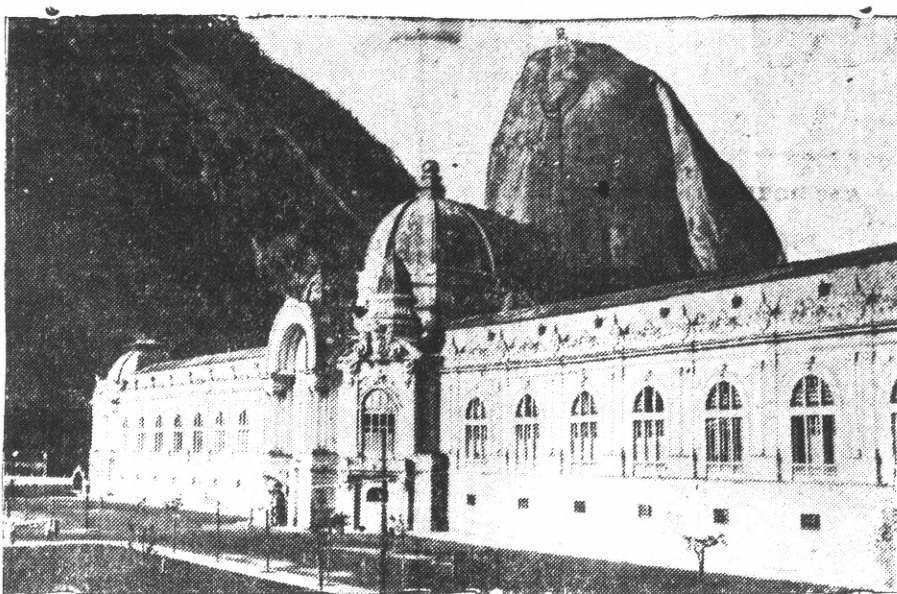

Oakley Farmer Is Dead In Accident

MARTINEZ, Dec. 5. A 12-hour search for E. B. Sellers, 58, prominent Oakley orchardist, ended this morning at 8:30 o'clock when his body, with a gaping wound from a shotgun charge, was found in a dry creek bed a mile from his home.

Investigators determined that Sellers fell while walking along the bank of the creek with the shotgun in his hands and accidentally discharged the weapon. His body was in the creek bed but there were prints indicating he had been walking along the bank.

The wound, it was believed, caused almost instantaneous death.

Many Slain In Brazilian Revolt

REBELS' WAR — Rebels are fighting the Communist revolt in her capital at Rio de Janeiro, with 138 slain and many wounded in four days of fighting. Above are the barracks where the rebellious 3rd Infantry made its desperate but hopeless stand. Federal troops on famous Sugar Loaf Mountain, in the background, demolished the barracks with gunfire.

SECRET TRIP OF GOVERNOR IS REVEALED

SECRET FAIRY MADE

Hoffman said Parker was conducting an "independent investigation" of the Lindbergh crime.

"But I have not authorized a private investigation of any kind," Hoffman added. "Mr. Parker is an old friend and has visited me several times. My only interest is, as a member of the court of pardons, to see that justice is done. Being a member of the court I cannot express an opinion of any kind."

Hoffman conceded that to have the court of pardons visit a prisoner would be unusual, but said there was no law prohibiting it. He also indicated the case would be reopened if Parker or anyone else read valid new evidence.

Robert Rosecrans of Hauptmann's counsel thought Parker was investigating the case only because of a general interest in crime. But it remained a puzzling feature of a case that has seen Dr. John E. "Jafie" Condon disappear on mysterious trips into the northeast, along with rumors of new evidence found in New England.

The visit of the court of pardons to Hauptmann is contingent on action of the United States Supreme Court, which may come Monday.

FERTILE FIELD

Despite its enviable record in the initial year of its existence there is yet plenty of work for the traffic council to do. Realizing that its labors have been of value thus far, encourages it for future endeavor. Before another year rolls around it is therefore not too much to expect that one-armed drivers, speedsters and jaywalkers will be a rarity in these parts.

HOPEFUL SIGNS

Perhaps deceptively, but there appears to be ground for the belief that some basis of settlement will be found for the Italo-Ethiopian conflict. It does seem to be in a receptive frame of mind for offers from the League of Nations, as lately he has refrained from issuing any "hoed and thunder" manifestoes. However what may be satisfactory to him may carry no appeal to the Conquering Lion of Judah, who still insists that his country shall not be carved up for the benefit of Italy or any other nation.

The brutal truth concerning the matter is that whatever Great Britain, in conjunction with France, decides upon, will be the plan that will be put through, despite any and all objections from Haile Selassie. The two big powers consider the peace of Europe paramount to any other consideration and will act accordingly.

Newshawk Can't Cover Waterfront Skiff Is Missing

Frank Watten, local newspaperman, will be forced to tell his city editor today that he will be unable, for the time being, to cover the Richmond waterfront.

It seems that Frank is a sailing enthusiast. Being a newspaperman he will have to wait for a few million years before he will be able to purchase a star boat, or even a cat boat. So he has been using a small boat to do his sailing.

Yesterday Watten went down to the foot of Eighth street to take a sail on the bay, or so fishing, or something, and the skiff was missing.

Police patrol may be seen at any hour of the day or night cruising the streets of Richmond in search of the newshawk's boat.
